GRACE : We are truly touched that you would all honor our tiny corner of the world with your presence.
: Goodness, we've, well...
: We've had a spot of trouble lately. (練習問題)

GRACE : When I was acting in New York, my uncle, a wonderful playwright, told me that I should pray the same prayer, every night.
: That should I ever... Should I ever make it, I would never be ungrateful.
: That should I ever be in a position of influence,
: I would have it in me to use it for good.
: Now, some of you ask, why did I leave Hollywood?

GRACE : Well, I left because...
: Because I fell in love with a charming prince.
: A man who has inspired me to see the world with enough compassion that I may want to do something about all of the unfair things that I see in it.
: And that is why we are honoring the Red Cross.
: A force for good that is...
: That is very close to my heart.

GRACE : One of my dearest friends once told me that when people dream of marrying royalty, they rarely comprehend what it actually means.
: It means...
It means having to choose. And
: I chose the House of Monaco.
: It may not seem a noble place.
It may seem... Well, it may seem pompous and it may seem circumstantial, and...

: I may not speak its language and... Oh...
: It... it frustrates me at times, but...
: It's my home.
: And these are my people. And they...
: They are good people.
: And they're trying to do what's right in their own small corner of the world... in the best way that they know how.

GRACE : And those of you who are married will know exactly what I mean.
: Maybe I'm naive, but...
I believe in fairy tales.
: I do. I believe that they can exist if we really want them to, if... if we are prepared to work hard enough.
: I believe that the... That the world will not always be full of hatred and conflict if...
: If we're willing to sacrifice enough.
: And that is what...
: That is what Monaco means to me.
: And in a way that is why...
: That is why I am Monaco.

GRACE : I have no army. I...
: I wish ill on no one. I...
: I bear no resistance to aggression. I just...
: I'm here. I'm here doing what I do, trying to make a little difference in the world in the best way that I know how.

GRACE : But it wouldn't be real life, or it wouldn't be the fairy tale, if there wasn't someone trying to destroy it, or crush it, simply because it doesn't please them, or simply because they can.

: And I know some of you think it's their right to do so.
: But I don't think anyone should have the right to crush happiness or beauty when they see it.

GRACE : Well, it's... It's not how I was raised.
: And it's not the world that I wish to... It's not the world I wish to be a part of.
: I would rather that the... That the tanks roll through my lawn, I would rather that the bombs fall on my house than know I live in a world where love doesn't conquer all. Because...
: Because, I believe in love. And...
: I believe that it's love that has brought us here tonight. And it's love...

GRACE : It's love that will make us put away our guns and our politics and our fears and our prejudices, and it's love that will eventually make everything right.
: And that is why tonight I am going to celebrate it, and I am going to be willing to defend it.
: And I hope that you will all do the same in your own way...
out there in your own lives.
